

A fishy day Thursday has accumulated plenty of fish in traps on both BTC & ETH

Hopefully you have managed by now to find the same and different things in scenarios between the 1st & 2nd legs of price drop on both coins' charts. We can see the same diamond structures above the upper borders of both rising wedges. However, the price descending formations will not be flags, as we initially assumed. Instead we are and will be experiencing here deep and shallow retraces. The ones to Fibo's 61.8% levels have already taken place and the retraces to 38.2% levels are in store of us. Afterwards we will help you gain your profits on this retrace system.