

A narrow tunnel for squeezing the crowd's wallets

Sometimes your tolerance to market complexity might turn out to be awarded a week or a month later. With a 2nd high upon the channel exit the price has formed the brilliant with a false upwards break and it is lowering within an acceleration channel where there are: a) a very strong resistance @23300 and b) a very strong support @22700. The would be break of the latter will open the road to 20700 with the final channel exit to be followed. As for the possible perspective above the "tunnel" - so far the 2 corresponding brave attempts have ended in failure.