

A petty worthy thing on these wedges.

What a day, Dear swing traders! I know that you all counter attacked yesterday from the levels above 38650. I only wanted to draw your attention to the fact that yesterday we witnessed "the small copy" of a broadening wedge upper border false break. I have marked the main one on the graph as well. And there is still an opportunity to reach 38K before that. However, with the new low earlier one more broadening wedge upper border touch is unlikely to happen. Enjoy your day!