

Early Tuesday price launch has ended in the same failure like Challenger shuttle launch

What a nice overwriting of a broadening wedge false break! We dare to suppose that might be more than enough for the price to reach the lower border of the wedge as merely. At present we've got the 15K level there. One can't help excluding of the opportunity of bouncing back to 18K, therefore, you'd better so far fix your profit namely there, 100 bucks higher or lower. The next price stop will be perhaps those 12,5 K if they are not hit earlier, of course.