

The trap is only missing for the price dropping

The price rally overnight to 47.5K is still not enough to see the price somewhere @ the twenties figures afterwards. However, it is the time to get all your weapons ready and closely watch after the market intention above 48K. There will be a temptation to take 50K but it is unlikely to happen that such a vital level is allowed to take. Some 500 dollars below that will be quite a good "high" to "close the doors" until the next station at low thirties and lower.